DEDICATION

Rare does an opportunity arise which allows deep appreciation to be expressed to those who mean so much to us. Good fortune has graced us not only with the occasion, but also with the unique individual so richly deserving of it.

The contribution of individual attention, personal sacrifice, and devotion reveals a subtle yet significant impact. The generosity of his efforts proves an essentially valuable factor backing the production of the yearbook.

We, the yearbook staff of 1977, are proud to have the honor of awarding the dedication to our special friend.

JOY

JOY OF 77

The Joy of '77, with a rainbow of colorful opinions, imprints a vibrant image onto each student's mind. Subtly etching mellow happiness or dramatically engraving total ecstasy, it is mind shattering and mind shaping.

The Joy of '77 is born of the fortune of knowledge. It is understanding the beauty of an opportunity to learn. Truly in the students' yearbook, our joy is presented through gleaming eyes and shining smiles th[illegible]long corridors of our school . .

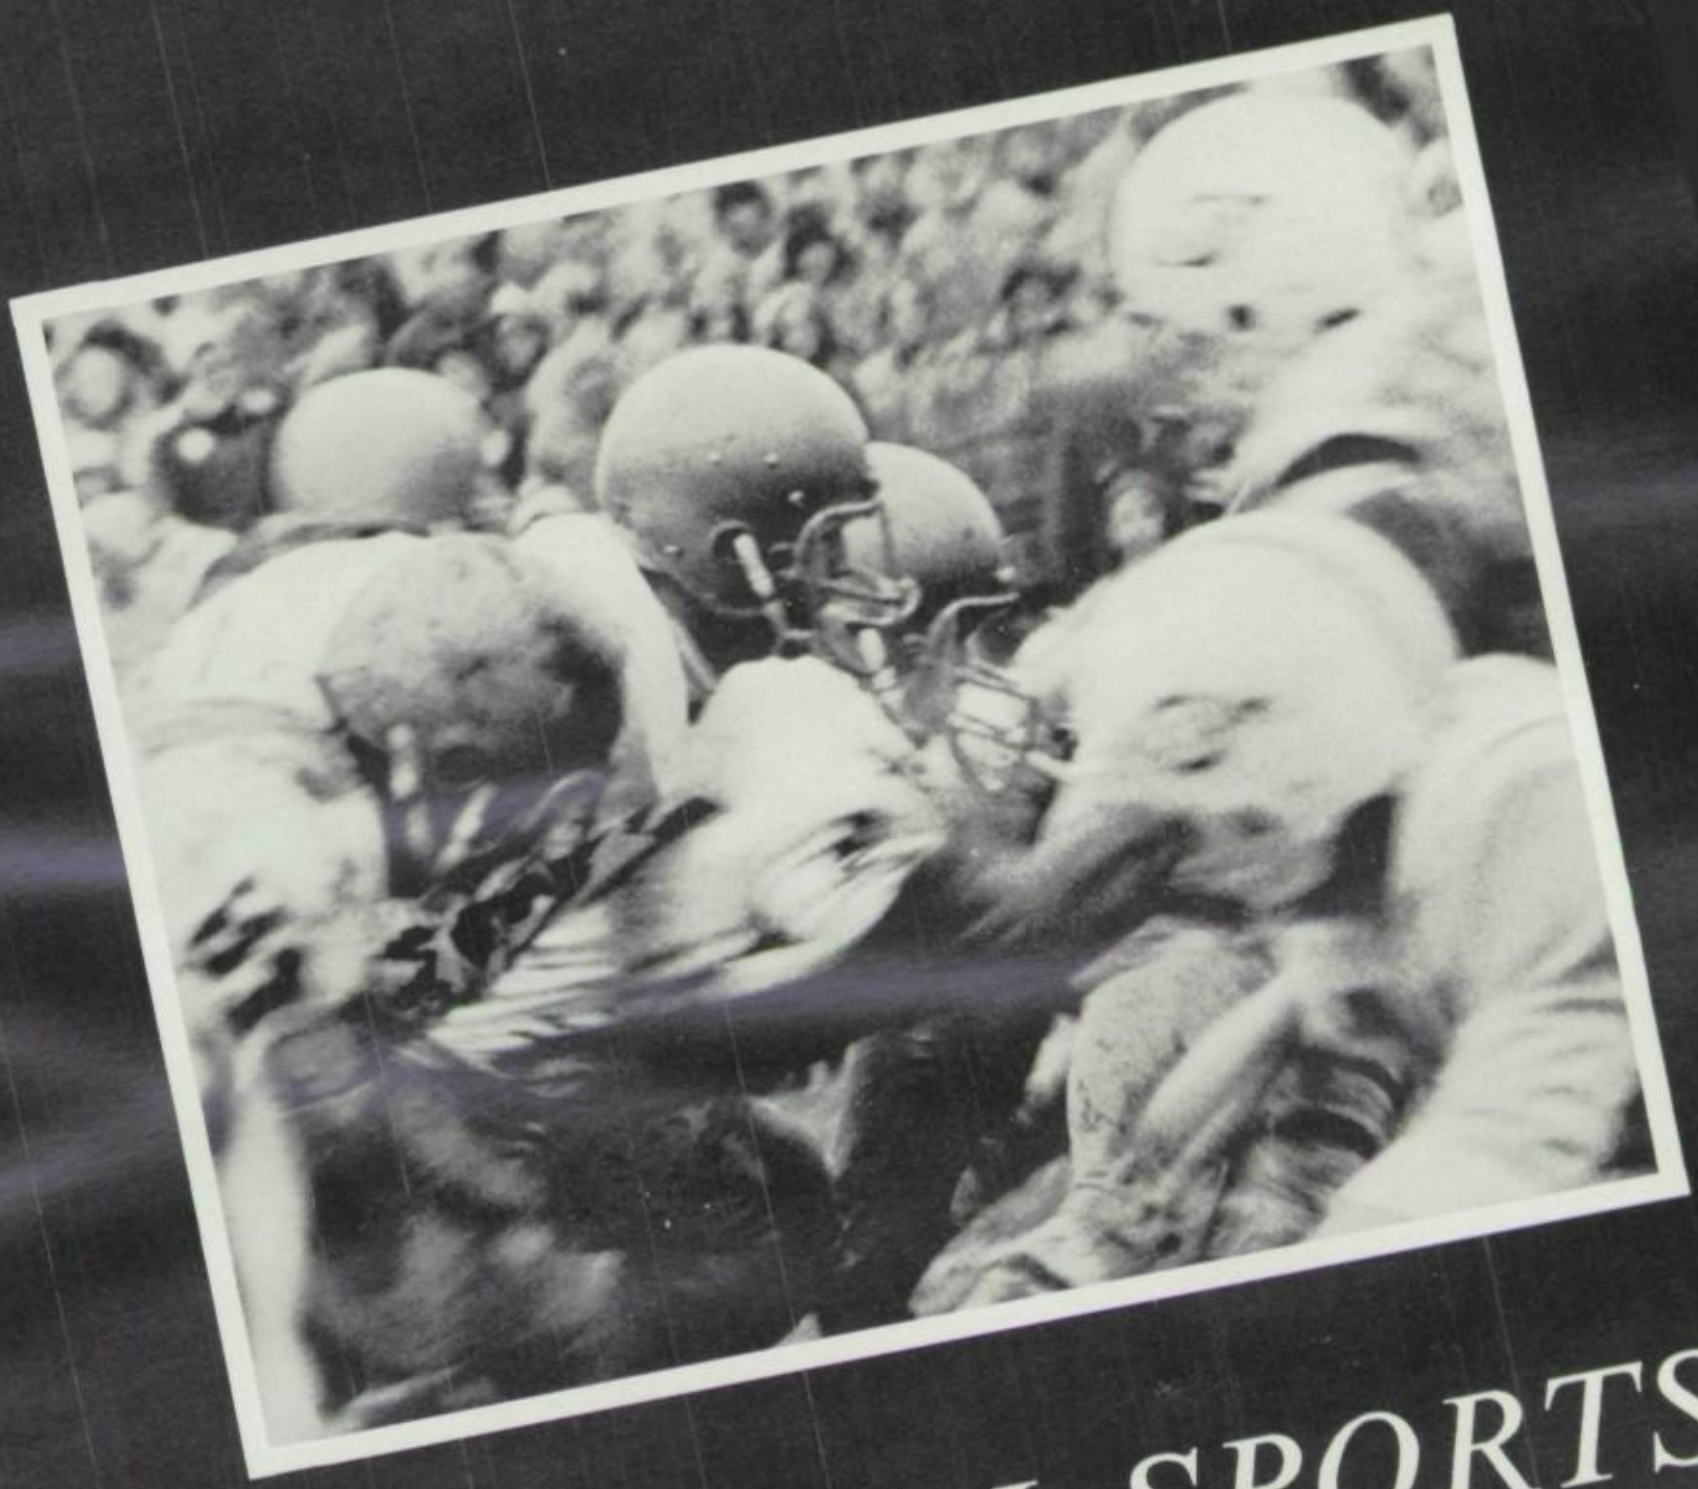
THE FACES OF FRESHMEN



FALL SPORTS

Joy expresses itself in the chilling excitement whisked in upon a sleigh, riding high on the frosty breath of the North wind. Spattered like paint on an artist's pallet, nature's colors blend in the throb of creative delight. Leaves kissed pertly by Jack Frost blush in vibrant shades of attractive red, white, others radiate a jubilant glow; miniature suns reflected in golden autumn hues.

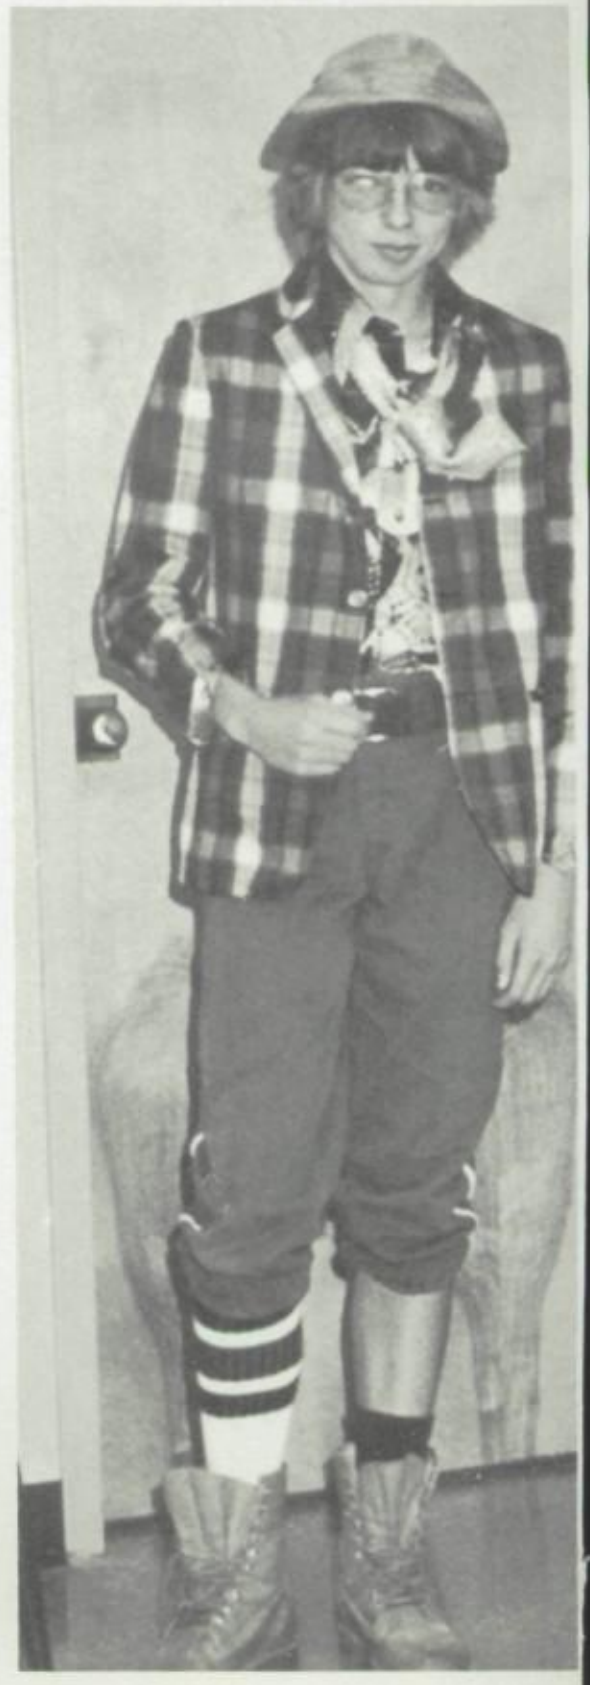
FALL FESTIVAL

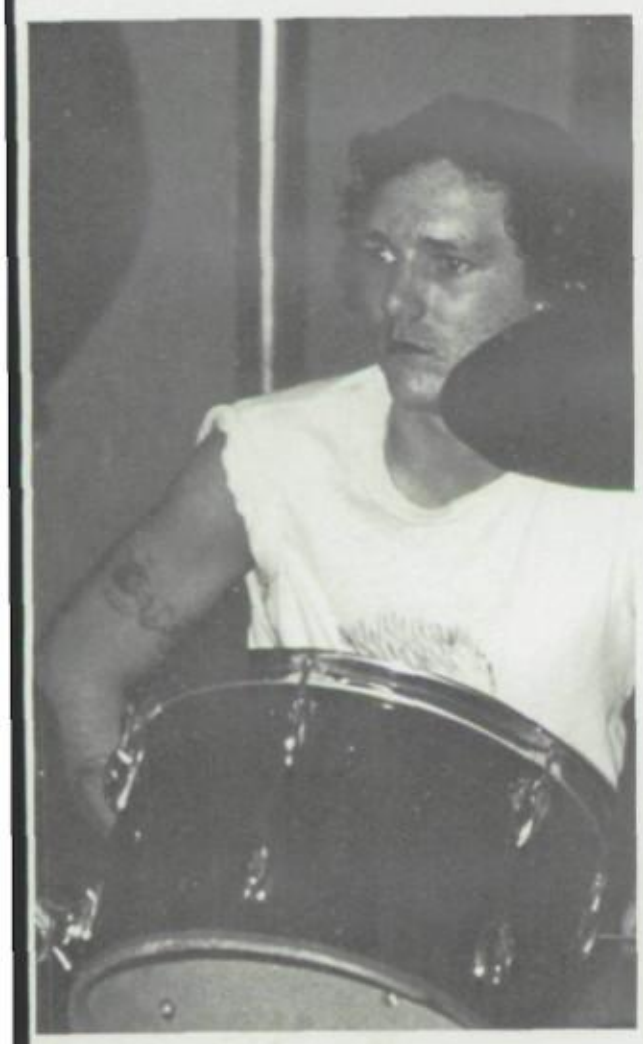
Sponsored by the Student Council, the annual, week-long masquerade ranked high in joyful spirit . . .

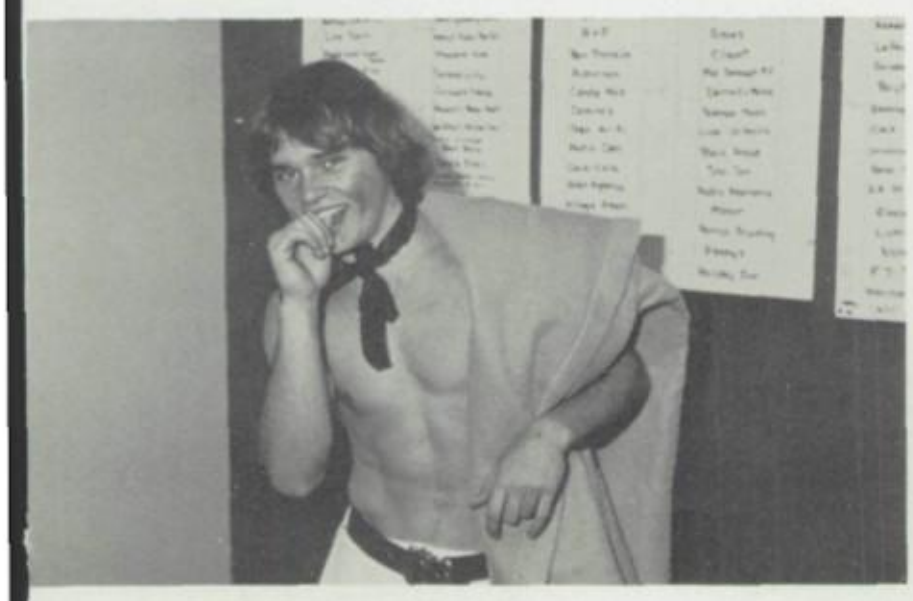
Campus Clean-Up Day set the eventful Fall Festival week into full motion. By the end of the day the halls were spick-'n-span, courtesy of our friendly maid service.

Tuesday found students clothed in elegance as Dress-Up Day was in session. Comfort was abandoned in the name of excellent taste.



Wednesday's theme held its traditional popularity as Greaser Day flung us back into the scene of a not-so-typical high school of the '50's. From the teeny-boppers at the sock hop in the gym to the tough-looking dudes at the rumbles, the spirit of joyful involvement swelled. Revived from the legacy of the Class of '76, a Senior Slave Auction once again took place.





Seniors went all-out on Thursday in the distinguished celebration of Senior Hat and Shade Day. Coupled with this event was the increasingly popular Frizz Day, initiated through the ingenuity of the Class of '75. The informal dress of the day proved extremely appropriate for the running of the Class Competitions.

Friday's theme was Blue and Gold. For a day the high school lost its students and gained a nest of joyously active Hornets.

The excitement and joy of Fall Festival Week wound to a close with the spirited football challenge between the Essex Hornets and the South Burlington Rebels.

WINTER

From the whisper of the somber moment to the throb of the fans' cheers, the feeling of JOY spreads its emotionally encompassing arch to include all. JOY seals with impact the printed pages of memories' chapters.

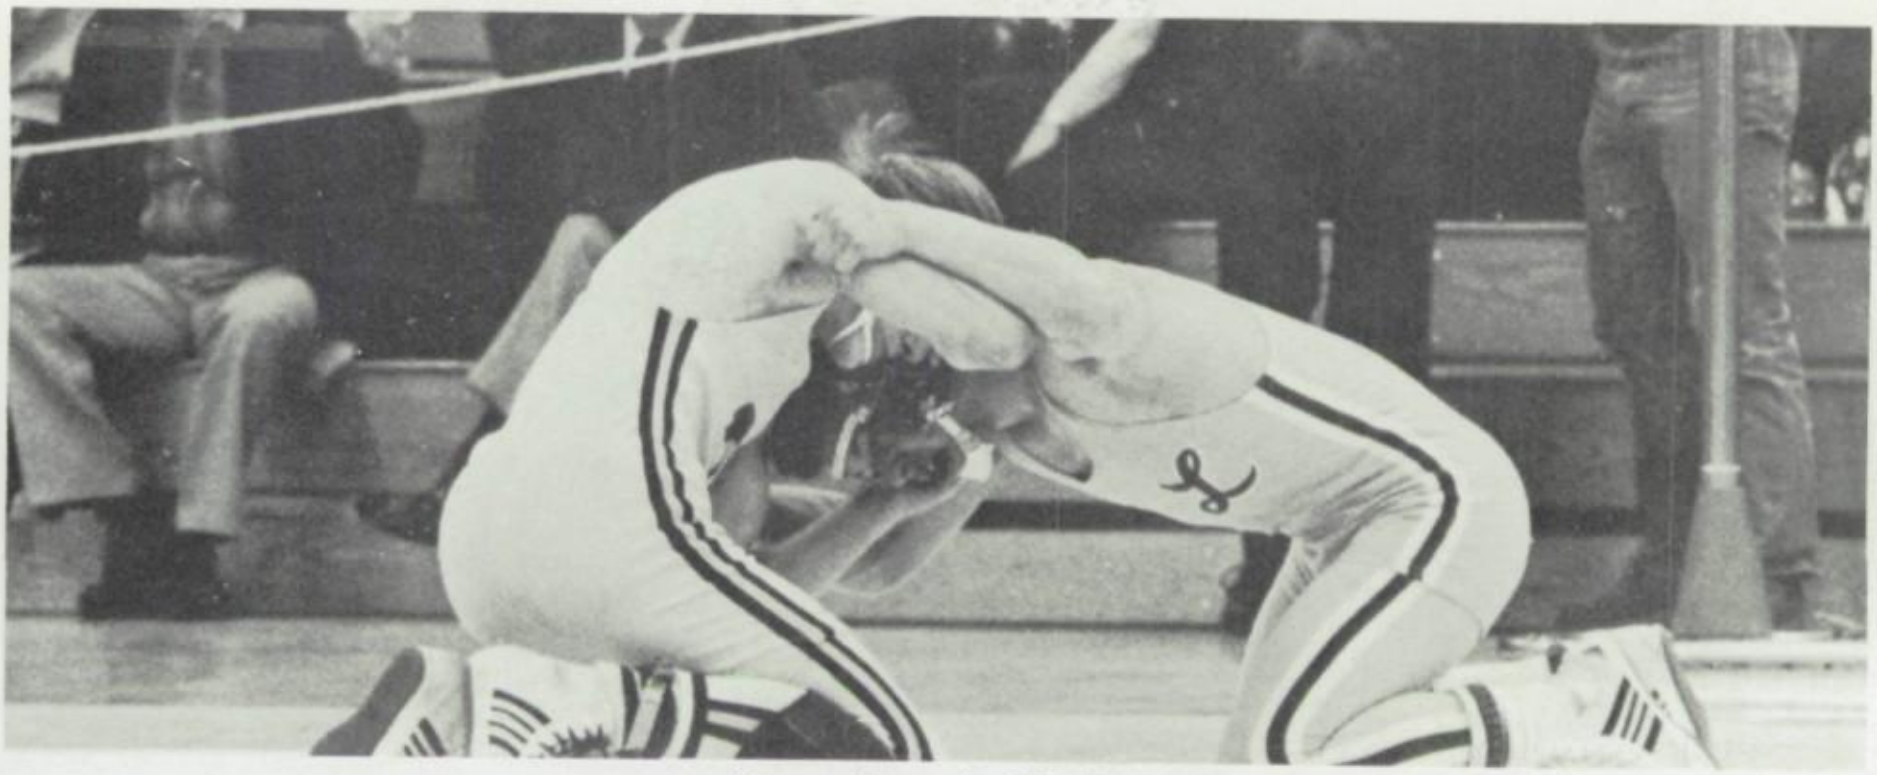
"Oh no, the record skipped."

La, la la lala la la la

All right, who swallowed the puck?

Don't forget to throw it when I say HIKE!



"Let go. My ear just fell off."

"BEFORE"

"AFTER"

Did you know we were cousins on my uncle's mother's side? "No kiddin'."

ROWDIE that's the way to spell rowdie . . .

Let your fingers do the walking.

JUNIORS

Joined together in a spirit of exhuberance, the juniors embark upon serious decision making. The JOY of choosing life-long goals become a meaningful task. Eagerly awaiting seniority, the juniors fill their time with blissful events. The spring prom is born of junior minds, further educated by girls' and boys' state.

OUR COMMUNITY

Events whirl by as we peek through time's porthole into the past year of '77. Marching patriotically out of '76 to Bicentennial drumbeats, we joyously step into '77 with the flare of fashion styled in our frye boots.

The school year began with women cadets revolutionizing the nation's military academies upon their entry. With the onset of winter, a rash of swine flu clinics plagued the country - arming the masses against the silent enemy of disease.

Vice-President Mondale spoke at our school during his election campaign in November; Jimmy Carter was elected to the office of 39th President of the United States. Attempting to return the government to the people in his domestic policies, Carter proposed a conservative budget coupled with conservation measures aimed at reduced consumption of natural resources. Carter's Human Rights Campaign became an underlying theme extended into foreign policies. Highly violating this campaign was Idi-Amin, President-for-life of Uganda. Maintaining his office by force, Amin has left a trail of death; a trail responsible for imprinting his name and his character traits indelibly into each American's mind. Memories of Hitler were painfully relived as Amin's rampage of terror swept throughout his country.

Winter came for a visit with its own surprise package and got a little carried away with its abilities. The temperature dove into the unexplored depths of the mercury and traveled in record low regions. Snow-kist citrus crops in Florida suffered and some were destroyed by the unsympathetic, cold weather. The snow even managed to dance into the sunny southland, making its historical debut in the Bahamas. As the temperatures continued downward, the price of coffee soared to phenomenal heights, transforming coffee breaks into tea breaks.

Skirt lengths remained moderately long while hair length crept upward. The Farrah Fawcette hairstyle excited waves of new fashion, making "Farrah Fawcette" a household word.

The Oakland Raiders kicked their way to the winning position of the Super Bowl and Mario Andretti sped to a victory in the Grand Prix West in Long Beach, California. Andretti's triumph marked the first time that an American has ever won a Grand Prix on home soil.

The Skateboard fad zig-zagged its way back into existence as thousands of Americans supported the new mode of entertainment, exercise and transportation.

Burlington's Memorial Auditorium hosted a Styx concert in March and the crowds were both overwhelming and overrambunctious.

As fires destroyed more of the Burlington landmarks, attempts were made to reconstruct the injured city. The new Cathedral was consecrated in May and a new Burlington Mall opened its doors for trade on Church Street.

"Tilt" became the place in Essex Junction, being a home for the new craze of Pinball. Any day or night of the week managed to find an exuberant crowd frequenting "Tilt."

Each event of '77 has weaved a unique stitch into the intricate design of the perpetual pattern of time.

The new pinball game room "TILT."

The shorter female hair styles.

The Farrah Fawcette hair cut look.

The Swine Flue vaccine.

The economy turning to the smaller cars for better gas mileage.

The skateboard fad.

The relaxation after the long cold winter and the rainy spring.

SPRING

Struggling to run the final mile, JOY exults in triumph. The crisp crack of the bat and the whistling of the speeding ball excite a JOY enhanced by screaming fans. Utilizing a carefully calculated backhand, JOY drives its speed deep into the courts of the heart.

MUSIC

Music: entertainment born of dedicated effort and painstaking practice; perfection shown in a universal language, dictating an array of raceless emotion, notes melting together creating harmony; waves of feeling rise and fall in continuous motion, spilling forth a message, unattainable by words.

Touchey Feeley, Touchey Feeley.

Alright who did it?

Play it again Sam.

This pose is for you sweetie.

CANDIDS

Smiles - in all shapes and sizes; a regular variety of joyful expressions. Happy villains caught with split-second timing, flashing brilliant grins as they reflect on private secrets.

YEARBOOK ASSEMBLY

For the first year, the 1977 yearbook staff put on an overwhelming assembly.

The production was composed of 40 talented actors, actresses, musicians, and stage crew members.

This assembly consisted of 5 musical numbers and will always be a once-in-a-lifetime show.

HIT THE ROAD, JACK!!

LET'S HEAR IT FOR ME!

AND TASTY, TOO!

WHO'S THE GIRL WITH THE LEGS?

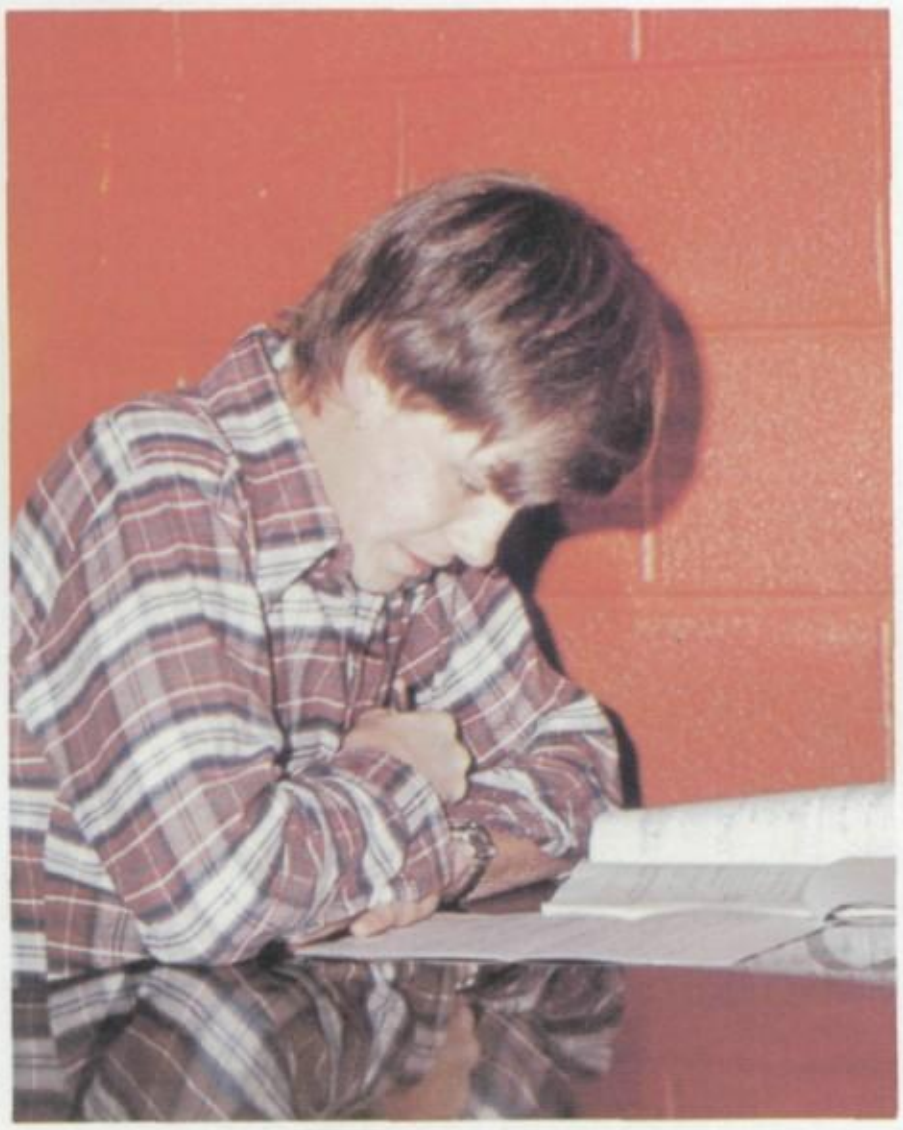
WILL YOU JUST LOOK AT THAT?

YOU MIGHT NOT EVER GET RICH.

I WIN!!!

WHAT AM I GOING TO DO?

OH, NO.



THEY EXPECT ME TO LEARN THIS?

DO THE HUSTLE!

MM, MM, GOOD.

FILL UP AND YOU DON'T HAVE TO PAY AT THE CAR WASH.

BOY, DO I HAVE A HEADACHE!

QUIET, ALONE AT LAST . . .

YOU'VE GOTTA' BE SINCERE

WHO ME? I DIDN'T DO IT.

STANDING ON THE CORNER WATCHING ALL THE GUYS GO BY . . .

I'M SMILING, I'M SMILING . . .

CHEESE . . .

IT REALLY WASN'T ALL THAT FUNNY.

IS IT NUMBER 1, OR NUMBER 2, OR NUMBER 3?

FLOATS LIKE A BUTTERFLY, AND STINGS LIKE A BEE.

WHAT YOU LOOKING AT?

COTTAGE CHEESE OR YOGURT?

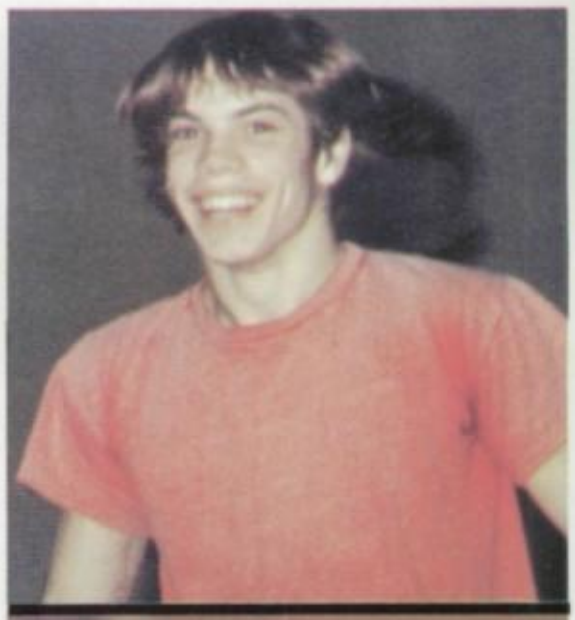
"YOU LIKE?"

BURP.

HE LOVES ME.

"JAWS" PART 3.

DON'T BE SILLY.



KISS

DANCES, ASSEMBLIES, FRUSTRATIONS,

JOYS, AND SILENT MOMENTS . . .

ALL THOSE SPECIAL OCCASIONS

THAT MAKE THE YEAR SO MEMORABLE.

TWIST.

ZZZZZZZ . . .

I HEARD THAT, HOW RUDE!

THE BOBSEY TWINS, NO!

THEATER

Nowhere do individuality and unity exist together in such harmony as on the stage. The certain aura surrounding the glamour of the stage is made possible only by the hard work contributed cheerfully by orchestra, cast and crew.

UTBU (Unhealthy TO Be Unpleasant) opened the stage to the year's theater productions. A short, humorous drama, UTBU exposed a variety of superb acting talent.

Only theater has the ability to transform personalities in such a successful manner. Evidence of this stands clearly in "Bye Bye Birdie's" character, Conrad Birdie. A quiet, shy person comes dramatically alive within his bold role. "Bye Bye Birdie" was definitely a successful spectacular theatrical performance. The audience responded with a flood of laughter, rising to their feet in a wave as the curtain call marked the dynamic conclusion.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Special moments highlight each passing year. The JOY of '77 sparks the memory with flickers of delightful events. Instances which live a lifetime have been born in shimmering ecstasy. Each special event shines like a precious gem with a unique charm all its own. Taken together, the jewels link in excitement to provide the total, lasting treasure.

ROMAN BANQUET

Carrying on an annual spring tradition of a joyous event, the Latin classes enjoyed the festivities of a Roman Banquet on May 14.

Mater Chaffee conducted her Latin students into a courtyard of Roman delight, the highlight of their Latin year. Rome came to life in exultation as the celebration wound together the traditional delectables and dress of the ancient empire. Food enough for all included salads, fruits, pork and juice (disguised as wine).

Faithful slaves attended to the needs and catered to the whims of their majestic emperor, Tom Jones. Tom earned his high honor simply by being the oldest male member of the Latin I classes.

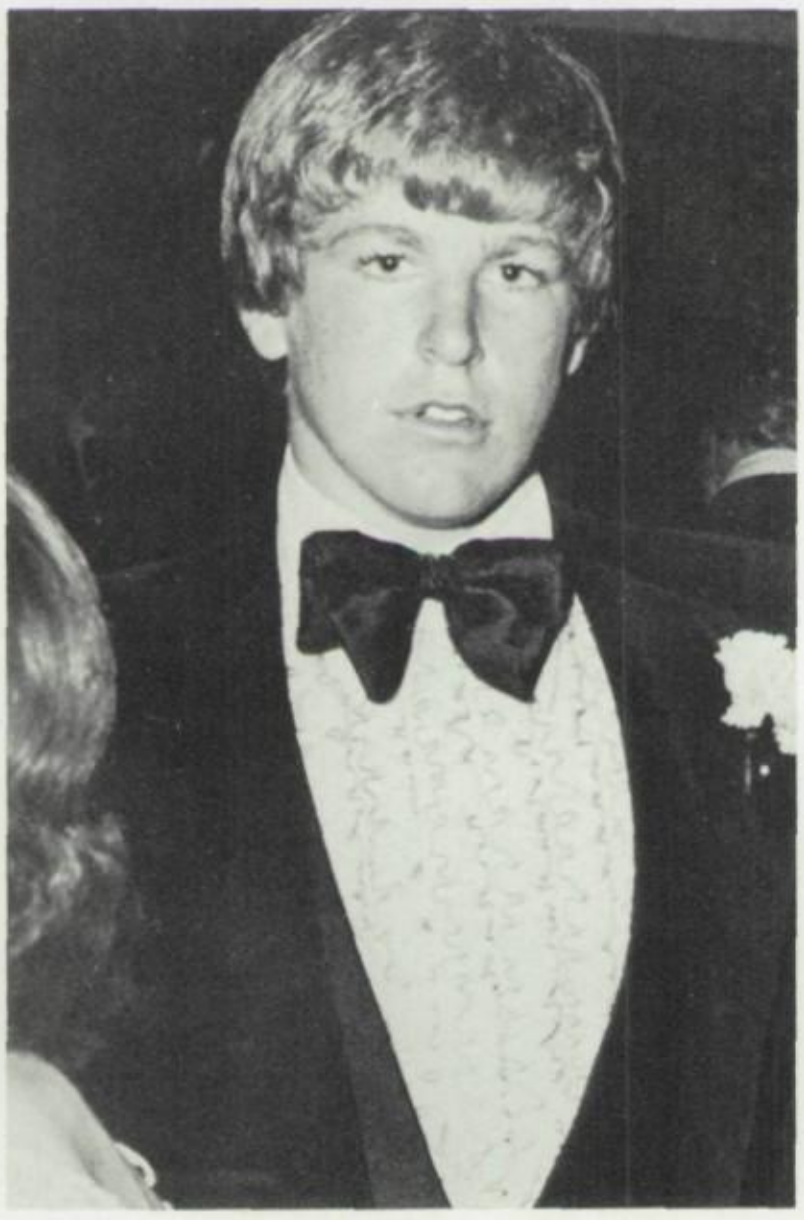
CULINARY ARTS BANQUET

The students of the Culinary Arts classes put on a very elegant semi-formal banquet for their parents in May. The meal was both a feast for the eyes and the stomach. The menu included lobster, clams, a variety of vegetables and a choice of cakes. The meal was a delicious success, highlighted by a roasted pig and an ice carving of a swan.

THE PROM — OVER THE RAINBOW

KING AND QUEEN - Bobby Bickford, Kris Kessel
Davis Brothers Band
Marble Island - Mallett's Bay

The Davis Brothers took us on delightful journey "Over the Rainbow." Following the meal of turkey, the dance floor opened up and continued to rock from 8:00 to 11:30 p.m. Spirits were high and romance ruled the evening. Our night journey Over the Rainbow provided us with an enchanted evening - alive with static excitement.



St. Michael's College Chapel

June 5, 1977

8:00 p.m.

Theme "Thank God"

The members of the graduating class joined within St. Michael's Chapel to "thank God" for the bountiful gifts we've enjoyed throughout the past four years. Individual talents were blended together to express our JOY through music and thoughtful reflections. The religious service was enriched by short talks delivered by a number of different seniors. Songs like "You've Got A Friend" captured the enthusiasm of the entire class and helped a special closeness to grow.

NCTION HIGH SCHOOL

COMMENCEMENT OF THE ESSEX JUN

JUNE 10, 1977 7:30 p.m.

VALEDICTORIAN - Joan Kathryn Tardie

SALUTATORIAN - Christina Marie Krupp

Excitement and anticipation were the predominant emotions of graduation. Looking forward to the parties of the evening, the graduates were also looking further ahead, eager to pursue their goals and make their impressive mark on the world. They viewed graduation not as an end, but as a beginning - a first step on the long road towards success.

"Set high goals for yourself and realize that you're going to have to trade your very life to achieve them. Make sure they're worth every minute so you won't regret the price you've paid for them.

"In a world full of empty promises make a true and lasting promise to yourself - a promise that you'll never sell yourself short of your very highest goals."

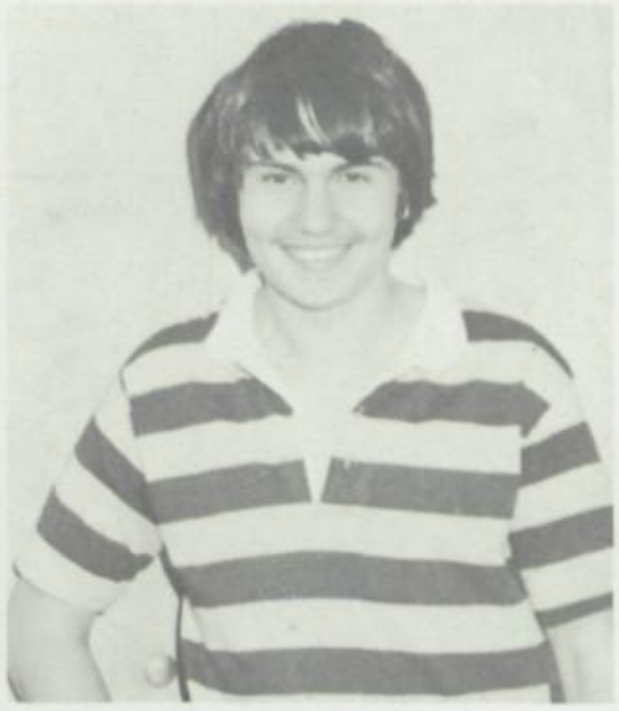
FROM AN ANONYMOUS DONATION TO THE YEARBOOK



Sponsored by Your School Student Council

The "JOY" of '77 thrives ecstatically within the open boundaries of freedom. The joy of being free - unrestricted by common goals, relaxed and candid about your feelings, open with your heart, your warmth, your understanding and your love, and flexible enough to accept others as they are.

The joy of living free - to breathe with your every cell, vital, and energetic, awake and alert to the compelling opportunities offered by each new day. The joy of enjoying freedom - approaching life with honest, confident enthusiasm, living one day at a time with the freedom to be yourself. To be able to live with such an abundant gift of freedom compounds the joy of '77 in our hearts and flows through our veins, urging us to make our highest dreams reality.

YEARBOOK EDITORS

Harold Richard Burroughs - Assistant Editor

With this note, I hope to answer a few questions. First of all, anybody who wondered why I hung around this school for two weeks after classes had ended, it was for the yearbook. The yearbook was also responsible for my constant search for Dino, who despite his looks, can be impossible to find. I do thank him, however, for the pleasure of seeing a yearbook put together, no matter how long it took. I leave the 1978 Yearbook Staff with the warning that nothing is more boring than working on the yearbook at 11:00 PM in the yearbook room. They must realize that the yearbook requires constant sacrifice, including Dino coming to your house and waking you up at 8:00 during vacation. (I did not even have time for breakfast). Finally, for the sake of David May, I hope I never have the good luck to enter C-232 ever again.

Kimberly Ann Desilets - Business Editor

I FINALLY GOT IT ALL TOGETHER!!! (but I forgot where I put it).

David Carlos May - Photography Editor

To my brother and my friends (all eight of you); I have not taken a giant step for mankind, but I have taken a giant step for me, myself, and I.

This yearbook will be the best to be seen to this day by the EJHS student body and administration. It will please a large percent of you but for the rest of you who have a complaint, I'm glad I don't have to listen to it.

Ignorance is the key to stupidity and I leave behind without total regret, the knowledge that experience was once in this school!

Joan Kathryn Tardie - Literary Editor

It's been a great year all around. Dino and David both have the characteristics necessary to be successful in life. I expect to see their names connected with the big times - I know they won't let me down.

. . . AND TO YOU FOR READING OUR BOOK!

CALLAHAN STUDIOS

The 1977 yearbook staff is indebted to you for life for all you've done for us. Your personal interest in our book is well appreciated. This book reflects your personal touch, the touch that adds quality. You have gone out of your way to add that perfection. So we say thank you Sid Soren, Janet Soren, Dave Soren, Jim Benton, and Debbie Dorfner.

HARRY CLARK

The 1977 yearbook would like to take this space in the yearbook to thank you for everything you have done for us. You have been very honest with us. There were no hidden costs and we got a straight answer whenever we asked something. You have helped us with our creative ideas and have added to our yearbook knowledge. You made sure we knew what we were doing before we did. A lot of people usually just say "give me, give me" to you. Now we are saying "thanks." We hope you will receive much pleasure from reading this book in the many years to come. Taylor Publishing Company has a representative of whom they can be proud.

This has been quite a year! We have had everything against us from Sid Soren having a heart attack to negatives missing. Ever since day one, I have been setting standing goals for the yearbook, all of them exceeded all other existing goals. We have surpassed them all. Advertisements, we've tripled. For once all yearbooks are paid for before the students pick them up.

I have gone out of my way to present you with the perfect yearbook, a book you can be proud of. We didn't achieve absolute perfection but I think this book is going to be the best one EJHS has ever had or will have for awhile. I apologize for all mistakes made and pictures that are missing, but I think you will always be proud of this book.

I have worked with people with great qualities. I would like to thank three of the most dedicated students on the staff - Kim Desilets, Joan Tardie and David May. Without these people this book would not be available to you, the student body, for your pleasure.

This book was put together by teamwork. The students that have worked on this book worked not as a club with a burden but as friends working on something they enjoy. Decisions I have made were turned down because of the fact that we were a club and other clubs never did it. But then again, I've done other things that no one ever thought of doing.

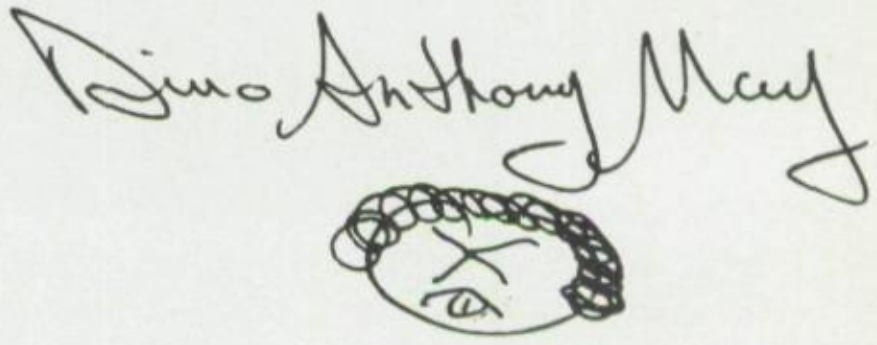
And to Miss Crandall or now Mrs. Cavanagh, many thanks. There's not too many advisors that could handle my late deadlines. Wear the blond wig in good taste, the one I left to you in my will . . .

I would like to thank everyone who contributed anything, all is most appreciated. There are a lot of people who have helped and it is hard to thank each of them individually so I'll say thanks to everyone.

A very special thanks from me to the people who worked not for the recognition and popularity of being on the staff but because they cared enough to make sure the yearbook got finished. I would especially like to thank two people who are close friends - Sid Soren for his consideration and personal touches and Harry Clark for his knowledge and understanding. Being editor I have made many friends. Some, like Harold Burroughs, will be close friends for life. Being editor has also given me the privilege of having the longest quote written in the entire yearbook. "I'm not even conceited."

Like our theme, Joy, we have had a lot of joy this year, from painting the yearbook room blue and hanging up pictures to producing your yearbook.

Out of the three years I've worked on the yearbook, this year was the most special to me. Thank you for giving me the chance to publish an EJHS yearbook. This book is totally the product of student efforts.



Dino Anthony May
Editor-in-Chief

P.S. Thank you for reading this long editor's letter. I would never have read it myself.

Miss Mary Crandall

1977 Yearbook Advisor

When we were planning this book in September, we talked about doing a book people would remember. We knew that it would take a lot of "Blood, Sweat and Tears" to do this and, believe me, it did. We do have a good book, I think, with color in it and additional pages. I'm sure we'll always remember the "Joy" picture and the assembly, too. With the last minute deadlines and "differences in opinion," it certainly was an interesting year - I'm sure eveyone learned a lot about organization, working on a deadline, teamwork and the implementation of new ideas.

Relax and remember the year 1977.
